To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to confirm that Yassin Amin successfully completed an internship with Tamam, where he made valuable contributions to our data engineering and backend operations.

His work included sourcing and organizing vendor data, optimizing our internal company database, and developing automation pipelines that improved data quality and efficiency.

During his time with us, he gained hands-on experience with technical tools and concepts relevant to backend and big data roles, including working with APIs for data collection, Python for automation scripts, SQL for database management, and data cleaning techniques to ensure structured and reliable datasets.

He also showed an ability to adapt quickly, apply problem-solving skills, and collaborate effectively within a technical team environment.

We are confident that the technical knowledge and practical experience he developed with us will serve him well in future roles in backend engineering, data engineering, or big data analytics.

Sincerely,
Tamam
